

Inclusive teaching supports all students in a diverse classroom

Every classroom has students who come from both dominant and marginalized identities. The following steps enable us to create a positive environment where all identities are welcomed and included.

- Being mindful of the intersectional identities represented in the classroom
- Addressing the power differences between different affinity groups
- Celebrating and inviting diverse views and ideas to the classroom
- Creating curriculum that include and nurture all identities
- Creating 'brave spaces' that foster respectful and meaningful dialogue

To learn more and to request for workshops or presentations on the topic, please reach out to:

Dr. Sujatha Ross

Advisor, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion

Email: urincluded@uregina.ca
306 337 3313

Let's create a welcoming classroom

