

Congratulations on receiving a graduate award that will help you reach your academic objectives!

Donors get a great deal of satisfaction for many personal reasons, when they set up a scholarship award. Your acknowledgement of their contribution strengthens their commitment to graduate education at the University of Regina.

Here are some tips for writing a letter of appreciation to the donor:

1. It is a real letter – be sincere.
2. Include the name of the award in your letter, because some donors support more than one award.
3. Describe how you will use the funds, referring to your field of study and the status of your research. Tell the donor how much this funding means to you/its importance.
4. Proofread carefully for spelling or grammatical errors.

Template: Below, you will find a brief draft (template) of some wording you may choose for your letter.

Please send your letters to: University Advancement and Communications (UAC) at awards.coordinator@uregina.ca
